Mountain View College

Associate Degree Graduates and Certificate Completers with Developmental Education Course Enrollments in Their *Last Five Years

HIGHLIGHTS: Over half of the MVC Graduates in all three years analyzed were enrolled in Dev Ed Courses during their last five years. Of these, 1/4 were enrolled in one Dev Ed Course; 1/5 were enrolled in five or more, and they averaged over three Dev Ed Course enrollments per graduate. The percent of total DMAT enrollments is increasing; the percent of DWRI enrollments is decreasing; and DREA enrollments remain the same. In these three graduating classes, the percent of total Dev Ed Course enrollments occurring in the two years before graduation is increasing; and the percent of these two years' enrollments that are in DMAT is also increasing.

DATA LIMITATIONS: Student level course enrollment data are available from Fall 1999 forward. Note that the 2005-06 and 2004-05 graduating classes had Dev. Ed enrollments as far back as Fall 1999, but the most recent five years were selected for a more uniform comparison. Also note that this analysis looks at Dev. Ed. course enrollments at MVC only. Dev Ed enrollments at the other DCCCD colleges, or other colleges and universities are not included.
